

The idea of socially comfortable hand behavior...

OK Hands!

What Do I Do with Idle Hands?

For _____

Date: _____

Usually, my hands help me learn at school.

My hands are usually busy.

I might be using my hands to write, hold a book or cut.

I might raise my hand in class.

I might applaud a presentation.

Sometimes, I learn without using my hands.

I listen with my ears.

I watch with my eyes.

My hands sometimes are idle.

Idle = not busy

Idle means not being used at the moment.

(Isn't this a cool picture!)

Usually,
my hands are busy at home.

I play video games with my hands.

I build legos with my hands.

I use the computer with my hands.

Sometimes, my hands are idle at home.

When my hands are idle,
I can decide what to do with them.

Sometimes, when my hands are idle,
I do things that make other people uncomfortable. This is a mistake. I want other people to feel comfortable around me.

Other people are uncomfortable if I put my hands in my nose .

Other people are uncomfortable if I put my hands in my pants.

Instead, I can put my hands together when they are idle.
This is a good idea.

Sometimes, my hands can rest
in my lap.

Sometimes, my hands can sit on a table.

I can give my hands something else to do.

Sometimes, my hands can go in my pockets.

Sometimes, my hands can hold something.

My teachers and parents will help me.

Teachers will help
me with the hands
“ok” cue.

Mom & Dad will help
me with the hands
“ok” cue.

I can do it!
I can make good decisions
when my hands are idle.
